

Export Training Workshop Trade Agreements and Rules of Origin Friday 05 August 2016

Bilateral and multilateral trade agreements offer South African manufacturers who export many benefits. In order to benefit from a preferential or duty free rate for your products, exporters need to understand how to register as well as obtain, complete and attest the necessary certificates of origin. Many South African firms that do manufacturing, assembly or value added product development are not aware that they qualify.

Outcomes of the Course:

This course will assist companies to:

- Understand the differences and benefits of the various trade agreement to which South Africa is signatory to but specifically
 - SADC Trade Agreement and GSP Agreements
 - EU-SA and EFTA agreements
 - EPA Economic Partnership Agreements.
- Understand the rules of origin for these various trade agreements.
- Learn how to register in order to benefit from these various agreements.
- Registering with SARS as an exporter under the Customs modernisation act.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

All international trade, administrative, senior management, marketing and financial staff

Date: Friday, 05 August 2016

Time: 9:30-13:00: Registration at 9:00

Venue: 2 nd Floor Great Westerford,
240 Main Road, Rondebosch,
South Africa(Spintelligent)

RSVP :info@saeec.org.za

Workshop fee per delegate: R850.00 + R119.00 (VAT) = R 969.00 (Includes 2 nd Floor Great Westerford, 240 Main Road, Rondebosch, 7700, South Africa Refreshments)

To reserve your place please complete the attached booking form

Facilitator: Ms. Linda Holtes: MD Platinum Mile Consultants.

Linda has been consulting to companies and government agencies on all aspects of international trade for over 30 years. She holds an International Marketing Diploma from UNISA and is an accredited facilitator and assessor with the Institute of Marketing Management South Africa and with the United Nations as an international trade specialist. She has developed training courses for both Government and the private sector both locally and internationally and has numerous publications to her name. Linda is one of the accredited Master Trainers for International Chamber of Commerce on the Incoterms© 2010 rules.